THE VISION

THE STUDIO

Digital Wine Media is a Dublin-based premium video production studio founded and run by director and cinematographer Dillon Ward. Built from the ground up through inbound work alone, DWM has grown into a trusted creative partner for some of the most recognisable names in music, nightlife, alcohol and live events.

THE APPROACH

We embed with events, artists and brands. Handheld. High energy. Close to the action. We shoot for the edit, not for a highlight reel. The output is cinematic, fast-paced, and built to stop a scroll. No stock footage. No filler. Every frame earned on location.

THE OUTPUT

Post-production is where the magic happens. Premium colour grading, tight sound design, platform-native cuts. The work is darker, moodier, more sinister in energy than what the typical Irish videography market produces. That is not accidental. It is the entire point.

THE EDGE

DWM sits in a niche that very few Irish operators occupy. The aesthetic lives closest to festival aftermovies, music videos, and editorial photography rather than corporate video production. Grittier. More urgent. More alive. Years of experience working inside the rooms where this kind of content is made means the output carries authenticity that cannot be manufactured. The client base built over time, including major alcohol brands, international DJs, artists and live event promoters, is proof that the approach works.

THE POSITIONING

This is not work you can get from a typical videographer. The combination of cinematic craft, cultural fluency and deep industry access creates an output that feels like it belongs in the world it is documenting. That is the DWM difference.

THE COLOURS

The DWM palette is built around contrast, urgency and edge. Ink black as the foundation. Acid yellow as the signal. Blood red for emphasis. Cream for warmth and legibility on dark grounds.

COLOUR USAGE RULES

INK (#0c0c0c)

Always the primary background. Never use pure white or light grey backgrounds on DWM materials.

ACID (#d7ff3d)

Signal colour. CTAs, key highlights, accent lines, logo mark. Use with restraint, never overload a layout.

BLOOD (#ff3b30)

Emphasis only. Live badges, underlines, critical callouts. Sparingly applied for maximum impact.

CREAM (#ede7d9)

All primary headings and body text on dark backgrounds.

CREAM DIM (#d9d2c0)

Supporting and secondary text. Captions, metadata, eyebrow labels.

HOW WE SOUND

WE SAY THIS

Raw. Unfiltered. Real.

We shoot the chaos.

No second takes.

Built for the moment.

Shot, cut, delivered.

Not polished. Not corporate.

From brief to live in 48 hours.

This is what it actually felt like.

WE DON'T SAY THIS

We are delighted to present...

Our synergistic creative solutions...

Leveraging our expertise to deliver...

Premium quality client deliverables...

We pride ourselves on excellence...

Please find attached our proposal...

To whom it may concern...

We look forward to your esteemed feedback...

THE FOUR VOICE PILLARS

DIRECT

No filler. Say what you mean in as few words as possible. Short sentences. High confidence. If it does not need to be there, cut it.

KINETIC

Energy lives in the writing. Active verbs. Momentum. The copy should feel like the edit. Fast, purposeful, alive.

CREDIBLE

The work speaks for itself. No hyperbole. No self-congratulation. Outcomes and facts over adjectives.

CULTURAL

We understand the world we shoot in. Music, festivals, nightlife, brand culture. The tone reflects that fluency naturally.

THE MARK

PRIMARY LOCKUP — ON DARK

REVERSED LOCKUP — ON LIGHT

MONOGRAM / ICON

The DWM mark is a viewfinder / film-frame icon. Corner brackets reference the cinematographer's eye. The film-strip notches connect to DWM's roots in video production. The blood-red centre dot represents the moment of capture.

Use the monogram for watermarks, social avatars, and small-format applications only.

LOGO USAGE RULES

- Use the full wordmark lockup on all proposals, pitch decks and client-facing documents.
- Never place the logo on a white or light background without using the reversed version.
- Never stretch, rotate, recolour or add effects to the wordmark.
- Minimum clear space around the logo equals the cap-height of the D on all sides.
- WINE always carries the Acid colour on dark, and Acid Dim (#9fc02a) on light backgrounds.

THE LOOK

DARK BACKGROUNDS ALWAYS

All DWM creative outputs use dark backgrounds. Ink black (#0c0c0c) or Void (#000000). Never white. Never light grey.

GRAIN AND TEXTURE

A subtle film grain overlay is applied across all static graphics. It gives warmth, tactility, and a cinematic quality that separates DWM from clean corporate design.

HALFTONE ACCENTS

Halftone dot patterns are used as decorative corner and background texture elements. Cream at low opacity. Never in colour.

GRID AND COLLAGE LAYOUTS

Photography and video stills are presented in dynamic collage grids with varied sizes. Never uniform. Never a single static image centred on a white field.

COLOUR GRADING STYLE

Footage is graded with lifted shadows, desaturated mids and pushed contrast. Gritty, cinematic, slightly underexposed. Not clean, not bright, not neutral.

MOTION AND TITLE STYLE

Titles in video are uppercase, large, cut to the beat. Glitch flicker on first appearance. Acid or white on dark only. No soft transitions or gentle fades.

VISUAL REFERENCES

Closest aesthetic references: festival aftermovies, underground club photography, editorial fashion, music video title cards. Not corporate brand video. Not event photography.

HOW WE SHOW UP

PROPOSALS AND PITCH DECKS

- Always PDF format. Dark background. Full DWM visual language throughout.
- Structure: Vision, Shoot Plan, Deliverables and Pricing, Timeline, Why DWM.
- Lead with the creative idea, not the price.
- Short punchy sentences. Zero corporate language.
- Pricing presented as a clean table with no hidden extras.
- 50% deposit on confirmation, balance on delivery. Always stated.

EMAIL

- Short, direct, human. No filler openers.
- Lead with the most important information in the first line.
- Sign off: Cheers, Thanks, or Speak soon. Always Dillon, Digital Wine Media.
- Same day response where possible, 24 hours maximum.

WHATSAPP AND INFORMAL COMMS

- Warm and direct. Lowercase is fine.
- Never ghost. Acknowledge receipt even if the full reply follows later.
- Voice notes work well for complex briefs. Faster and more personal.

INVOICING

- All invoices through Xero. Professional format with DWM branding.
- Always include: invoice number, project name, shoot dates, deliverables, VAT.
- Payment terms: 14 days from invoice date.
- Automated reminders handle chasing. Manual follow-up only when necessary.

WE SHOOT THE CHAOS.
